The DIMMER VIEW

by Max Goodwin

the Only Way To Go Law Enforcement—

Miami's Police Chief, Walter Headley, has had considerable early success with his "get tough" police toward hoodlums in Negro districts of the city. Since he started using dogs and arming police with shotguns in the high-crime area, crimes of violence have fallen off from 60 to 65 percent.

Headley does not claim that his "war on crime" has been won. He says he doesn't know whether the criminals have left the area or have merely gone underground. A spokesman at Miami's Urban League leans toward the latter view. He thinks that hoodlums, knowing that they are being watched, have decided to "cool it" for a while.

Others are more hopeful. The Rev. Thedford Johnson, pastor of a Baptist church in the Negro district, is fed up with civil rights leaders who "condone the hoodlums." He thinks the use of "machine guns and lions" would be justified if that's what it takes "to wipe out crime" in our streets. The minister's views may be influenced by the fact that he also owns a store which has been robbed 25 times in two years...

Other area residents say that hardly anyone will identify the criminals, not even the victims. According to one woman shopkeeper, "the people are more afraid of th hoodlums than they are of police brutality. They're afraid to talk because the hoodlum is bonded out so fast he gets back to the district before the policeman does. They're afraid he'll kill them." She thinks the cleanup should start in the courts. "If the people here thought a criminal might be convicted" she says, "they would talk."

Chief Headley, meanwhile, intends to stick with his program. The American Civil Liberties Union, he says, means "to get an injunction against me for enforcing the law." But he isn't worried. He says that in three weeks he has had "4,500 letters and telegrams indorsing my policy and only 22 dissenters."

Some support comes from the Associated Press, which reports that for the first time in two years "many Negro citizens are not afraid to walk the streets after dark. Attendance at evening church services, which had sunk to the vanishing point, has soared to record levels."

The Traffic Problem in CdO

Campo Road from Conrad Drive to Granada Street which easily qualifies for the title of Crash Alley will remain in its present status until at least March 5 when the board of supervisors at 2 p.m. will hold a public hearing on the subject, the County News Association advises us.

Although the road is a state highway, the division of highways has involved the county in the decision as to whether parking on-street should be prohibited in favor of a center dividing strip to be used for left turning cars at any location, not just at intersections. CNA says.

Supervisor Robert Dent last month got the board to ask the state to hold up on the action, which the state did, to the extent of covering no parking signs and halting the restriping job.

Dent said merchant opposition had developed to the parking abolition.

The county traffic advisory committee, however, has strongly reaffirmed its original recommendation for no on-street parking.

The committee said the parking is little used because of the great amount of off-street parking available in Casa de Oro and because of the well-maintained street setbacks.

The four lane road has the jarring number of accidents of 80 in the past three years. Forty-two of these accidents involved left-turning cars. Forty persons have been injured and one killed.

Traffic officials think that this number could be cut in half by a left turn storage lane that would function in either direction.

Richard Cheney of the division of highways said a recent 8½ hour survey on a Saturday showed that of the 87 parking spaces, only nine were occupied at any one time and that for only about five minutes. He said that most of the day, four or less cars were parked on the street for the entire length, according to CNA.

The committee's position is that the chance to reduce accidents far exceeds any inconvenience or monetary loss that might occur by the parking prohibition.

Business interests believe that better patrolling and more traffic control signs will do the job, too.

What To Do For The Flu

The wiseacre who said he wasn't doing anything for the flu because it never did anything for him, may have been smarter than he sounded.

Don't know what the flu is, you say?

The symptoms are simple to describe.

Headache, sore throat, runny nose, and cough?

Then you probably have the "bug" — or commonly known as the Asian flu.

A respiratory virus identified as A-2 "Asian virus" currently is sweeping the East and is expected to reach California shortly.

The California Medical Association says the infection is spread rapidly by air travelers, families and particularly school children.

Fever usually accompanies the symptoms of runny nose, sore throat, cough and headache but usually subsides after three or four days.

The CMA says no antibiotic is effective against the asian flu virus but aspirin affords some relief of headache and other discomfort. Bed rest, light diet and adequate fluid intake are recommended by most physicians, while the virus runs its course.

Flu shots taken last fall may prove helpful in avoiding the virus. The immunizing procedure consists of two shots, taken one or two months apart, with an annual booster shot. However, the CMA warns that vaccine given during the current flu wave will not produce instant immunity. The immunity derived from the flu vaccine usually lasts about six months. Hence, physicians usually advise patents to take their first flu shot no later than October so they can complete preventive treatment before the usual start of flu epidemics during winter.

County Engineer Dave Speer and County Supervisor Bob Dent — "More people are coming to Lemon Grove and we've got to provide roads for them to move over."

Broadway 'Traffic Mess' Cleanup In Supervisors' Road Program

Broadway in Lemon Grove, between Olive and Kempf, was called "the worst mess in the county" by a man who ought to know.

The man is County Engineer David Speer.

County Engineer, he said, is a fancy name for Road Commissioner.

Speer shared honors Friday at the Lemon Grove Men's Club with Supervisor Bob Dent. Dent had come to Lemon Grove to discuss local traffic problems with members of the Men's Club.

Dent reported that $494,000 had been spent on Lemon Grove road improvements last year and that $759,000 was scheduled for local roads in 1967-68.

Dent said he had gotten complaints about the traffic situation on Broadway and that he had brought Engineer Speer with him to help resolve the problem. It had been studied in depth several years ago, he said, but Broadway property owners failed to determine what they wanted done.

Speer warned the club that "the thoroughfare is inadequate now and it is unsafe". The condition, he said, will grow worse. He said the "mess" on Broadway between Olive and Kempf, produced twice the accident rate as the improved section West of Olive.

He said that loss of patronage in Lemon Grove would grow greater as the situation deteriorated on Broadway.

Plans for improvement includes center islands and parking control curbs, he said. "Certainly, there will be some parking space lost when the improvements are made but there'll be fewer customers parking until Broadway is improved, he said. "Business people will have to find anuxiliary parking areas for future customers anyhow," he added.

Speer said the bottleneck between Olive and Main streets is "scheduled to be alleviated in 1970 or '71".

"You've got to make changes to accommodate the growing community," he said.

Speer and Dent said on-off ramps for State 94 at Grove and at Olive would be removed under a plan now being developed jointly with the State Division of Highways.

A full interchange will be installed at Costa Bella, they revealed. This, coupled with the current improvements being made on south Imperial will channel heavier traffic loads through Lemon Grove's central business district, he acknowledged.

Speer visualized several changes in a sequence that would lead to the eventual establishment of a giant tie-in interchange at Sweetwater, Broadway and State 94. The final element of that devlopment is scheduled for completion in 10 to 12 years, Speer said.

He also revealed that Palm st., east from Imperial would be widened to 44-foot curb-to-curb throughfare to increase the capacity.

Dent said he would ask the County Road Department to work out solutions to any road problems existing locally if a representative group made the request.

Bob Browne, president of the L.G. Chamber of Commerce and Jim Dorman, president of the Men's Club conferred after the meeting and agreed to call jointly a public meeting to discuss road problems with Speer and the five members of the Board of supervisors.

Such a meeting would feature an open discussion on L.G. traffic problems between the Board and members of the two local groups. A question-and-answer period would follow the discussion.

Historical Society Receives Valuable Books As Gift

A set of 36 volumes of books from Paul Bancroft, son of Hubert Howe Bancroft (historian), and a four-volume set on literary industry of California, were received recently by the Spring Valley Historical Society from Stanford University.

The books, written by H. H. Bancroft, range from California, Alaska, Oregon, Mexico and Central America. The books are under the supervision of Ted and Charlotta Phillips, who were elected librarians at a Historical Society meeting Feb. 6.

The volumes will soon be ready to be enjoyed by students, researchers, professors, teachers, or anyone genuinely interested in the books, Mrs. Phillips said.

Appointments to see the books may be made by phoning the Phillips home, 466-4209. No books will be taken out of the building and admittance to read the books will be by appointment only, Mrs. Phillips said.

The Society also appointed Mr. and Mrs. Ted Phillips as librarians for the books, and Ted Phillips was appointed to make a bookcase to keep the volumes.

Assisting him in the project are two other charter members of the Society; Mrs. Frieda Ralston and Mrs. Rolan (Ruth) Taylor.

Spring Valley Senior Girl Scout Troop 447, with Mrs. C. R. Moore as leader and Mrs. A. G. Loveberg as co-leader have assisted by staining the bookcase.

These girls are known as "Museum Aides." On Feb. 19 they are to visit the Museum of Man in Balboa Park, to study an Indian basket, and then report back to the S.V. Historical Society at a later date, regarding their study.

Mrs. Ethel Koonce, longtime Valleyite, has resigned as historian of the Historical Society, and elected in her place was Mrs. Mildred Moran, retired S.V. postmaster.

Will Reduce Home Taxes Deddeh Says

Wadie P. Deddeh (D-77th) Tuesday announced his intention to seek re-election to the Assembly.

He said his campaign would be based on the same one he employed in 1966 when he became the only Democrat to win a Republican Assembly seat—and this was due to the resignation of Dick Donovan when he was appointed a Municipal Court judge.

Assemblyman Deddeh filled a speaking engagement at the L.G. Rotary club prior to filing his intention to run at the office of the Registrar of Voters.

Deddeh told Rotarians that tax reform in California is imperative. "It has become unprofitable to own a home in California," he said. "Homeowners who improve their property are penalized while property that deteriotes earns a discount."

"As a member of the Committee on Revenue and Taxation I hope to make a positive contribution to the creation of fairer and more equitable tax structure in our state," he said.

Campo Road Will Be Resurfaced

The state Department of Public Works, this past week awarded a contract to the Griffith Co. of San Diego to resurface Campo rd. (the frontage road of Freeway 94) from Merritt blvd. to Kenwood dr., east.

The distance is about one mile. The Griffith Co. was low bidder out of six submitters, and they bid $12,476.

Work on the project should start in about two weeks, according to Jim Hearn of the San Diego office of the Griffith Co. He said the job should be completed in about a month.

New Calif. Tax Law Creates Confuison

Lemon Grove and Spring Valley residents may be finding the new California Personal Income Tax Law confusing.

The new law which replaces dependent and personal deductions under the old law is creating problems for local taxpayers, Martin Huff, executive officer of the Franchise Tax Board said today.

Huff, who is responsible for administration of this law, offered the following explanation of the change in the tax structure and its effect on individuals with varied incomes.

The law in effect for prior years permitted the benefit of the exemption to vary according to the amount of income taxable. This happened because the total of the exemptions was deducted from adjusted gross income before the tax was computed.

Married Couples

The married couple with a net income in the 2% bracket was permitted to deduct $3,000 before computing the tax; therefore, the exemption was worth $60.

The married couple with an income in the 1% bracket deducted the same $3,000 but the exemption was worth $30, or only one-half as much as the value to the couple in the 2% bracket. The same circumstances apply to the exemption for dependents.

Under the provisions of the new law in effect for 1967, tax credits of $50 for married couple filing jointly, $25 for single individuals and married individuals filng separately, and $8 for each dependent have been provded.

For example, the married couple's $50 tax credit under the new law is the equivalent of $5,000 exemption at the 1% bracket under the old law. This represents an increase in $2,000 over the exemption allowed in the old law (at the 1% rate).

PTA History Will Be Event Topic

A bit of magic will be used to honor the founding of PTA, and to unfold some of the history of the Parent-Teacher organization, at the meeting tonight of the Lemon Grove Junior High School PTA, at 7.30 p.m. in the school auditorium.

Following a brief business meeting, and the election of a nominating committee, the Founders Day Committee, with Mrs. C. H. Chiles as chairman, will present the program.

County Engineer Tells Of New Inspection Plan

Wednesday, Feb. 7 at the breakfast meeting of the Spring Valley Kiwanis Club, was the time for a speaker. Frank Rose½ program chairman, introduced Jim Gilshian, deputy county engineer, in charge of the building inspection, as of June 1, 1967. He said the main office in San Diego has been closed, and two new offices in the county opened; one in La Mesa and the other in Vista.

This way, he said, more people can be served and the parking problem eliminated. He said some 20,000 building permits are issued each year in San Diego County and that strict building codes are enforced.

Gilshian pointed out that higher standards of building are observed. He said the building inspection division checks on other things besides construction; grading ordinances, enforcing zoning, trash pickup, auto wrecking and others.

If you have a complaint, Gilshian said, call one of the two branch offices, and not downtown. He said the La Mesa office has received as many as 128 calls in one hour.

The new setup is a big improvement. The department now has cars with two-way radios and employes undergo special (extra) training.

He said he hopes the time will come, and in the not too distant future, when the department will have two-way television, and a patron and employe may be able to converse at a distant point. He hopes, that, residents of the outlying districts will be able to pay their taxes without going all the way to San Diego City. He stressed he hopes the new district will be the best in the nation.

Two Year Old Joins Monte Vista H.S. Biology Staff

by Laura White

A new "member" of the Monte Vista Biology Dept. is a big-tailed Macaque monkey named Judy, recently donated by Mr. Howard Sidmore, owner of the Pampered Pet Shop in Grossmont Center.

The monkey, an old-world monkey found in Asia and Africa, is a female about two years old.

Mr. John Burak, Monte Vista biology teacher, has been interested for some time in buying a monkey for use in class lectures and studies, but price (about $225) was too steep for the department budget.

Housing Judy raised a slight problem when it was discovered that the cage, which another biology teacher, Mr. Robert Bass, had built, was too big to go through the biology room door.

The cage had to be sawed in half, brought inside, and then put back together again.

Another problem arose when Judy fot out of her cape over the weekend. After escaping, she proceedd to make a mess of the lab by taking all the light bulbs out of the sockets and smashing them.

She then pulled all the plugs from their sockets, and got into the scotch tape, which became entangeled in her hands and feet.

Judy is a real source of concern to her "adoptive family." When she developed the sniffles this week, Mr. Burak fed her baby aspirins, even returning at night to continue the medication.

Freese PTA Will Meet

The Elizabeth Freese Parent-Teacher Association will hold a meeting on Thursday, February 15, at 7:30 p.m. in the school Cafetorium, 8140 Greenlawn dr., San Diego.

Mrs. Nathan Blood will present the Honorary Life Membership to the person selected as the outstanding person who has done the most for the community, the children and the PTA.

Hostesses will be Mrs. Dan Shell, Mrs. Edward Smith, Mrs. Charles Jones, and Mrs. Warren, room Mother for the Fourth Grade.

Three out of four children live in areas where mortality rates among one to four-year-olds are about 40 times higher than in the industrialized countries. UNICEF means help and hope for those children.

UNICEF's annual income is less than the amount spent on world arament in two hours.

Rec. District Study Planned By Trustees

The Lemon Grove School Board decided to study the need for a recreation in Lemon Grove with the school district furnishing the facilities.

The school district is permtted to levy a five-cent tax on property owners for recreation expenditure purposes but the board was not inclined to do it that way. The board decided that such project should come from taxpayers forming a district and deciding how much recreation they wanted to pay for.

"We should put it up to the community," suggested Trustee Lyle Stumbaugh. "I'd be more than happy to go along with it if the taxpayers want it," Trustee Warren Buckner said.

Sharon Smith Will Appear In Premiere

Helping to premiere California playwright Albert Johnson's new play, "Man Like Lincoln," in the new Festival Theatre of the University of Redlands in mid-February will be Sharon Smith of Spring Valley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chet Smith, 3341 Central, Spring Valley.

Miss Smith, who plays the role of Robert Lincoln's fiancee, is one of 18 students selected for the January Theatre Interim, one of several experimental programs in higher education initiated at the University during the month of January.

In Theatre Interim, the 18 students are immersed in a four-week session of depth study in theater arts in which academic assignments are correlated with the creation of a new dramatic work. All members of the cast have an opportunity to sing, dance and act.

The musical score for "Man Like Lincoln" is the work of the talented young Redlands alumna, Karen Carmack, who is also musical director for the production. John Hill, a Redlands senior, is choreographer and dance director.

The production is under the general direction of Bertha Johnson, wife of the author. The Johnsons head the Redlands drama program and are personally conducting the theater interim experiment.

"Man Like Lincoln," which has aroused professional interest on both coasts, is dedicated to American poet and Lincoln bigrapher Carl Sandburg.

Spiced with Lincolnian humor, the musical play deals with the turbulent romance of Abe and Mary Lincoln, their storm-filled years in the White House, and Lincoln's struggle to save the Union and free the Negroes from slavery.

"Man Like Lincoln" will be presented on Feb. 15, 16, 17, 22, 23 and 24 at 8:15 p.m. Miss Smith is a 1967 graduate of Mt. Miguel High School and is planning a major in Theatre Arts.

Padres Slate Open House Feb. 17-18

A sneak preview of what the new, 50,000 seat San Diego Stadium will look like when laid out in baseball configuration will be held Saturday and Sunday, Feb. 17-18, when the San Diego Padres hold an Open House for prospective season ticket holders and other baseball fans, Padre general manager Eddie Leishman announced.

Learn Spanish the Easy Way

Hardison's Telespanish

by James Hardison

What is the meaning of the expression "voy a?" This is a leading phrase that appears with great frequency in Spanish. It means "I go" or "I am going." An example best demonstrates the use of this expression.

Consider the phrase "Voy a trabajar." (I am going to work.). Notice that the word "trabajar" has been added to complete the sentence. Thus the expression "voy a" is not complete in itself. It must be followed by a verb or a noun.

Similar to "voy a" is the phrase "va a" (he goes). By adding the infinitive "estudiar" (to study) to this phrase the results will be "(El) va a estudiar." (He is going to study.). Notice that the subject "el" (he) has been added for clarity."

The phrase "voy al" (I go to the) is easily confused with "voy a" (I go). The expression "voy a" is usually followed by a noun which identifies the location where one is going.

A good example is represented in the expression "Voy al cine." (I am going to the movie.). The word "cine" (movie) is the noun which tells the location where the subject "I" is going.

Today's practice phrases use the expressions "voy a" and "va al." See if you can say them with the recorded voice when you dial 276-2762 on your telephone. Listen for the voice to say each word and then pause while you say each word. Then it will say the complete sentence and pause while you say the sentence. Try it!

IMPORTANT PHRASES

Say "Voy a ver." (VOH-ee ah VEHR)
for "I am going to see."
Say "Voy a estudiar." (VOH-ee ah eh-stoo-dee-AHR)
for "I am going to study."

USEFUL PHRASES

Say "El va a hablar." (ehl vah ah ahb-LAHR)
for "He is going to speak."
Say "Ella va a comer.." (EH-yah vah ah koh-MEHR)
for "She is going to eat."

OTHER PHRASES

Say "Va usted al cine?" (vah oo-STEHD ahl SEE-neh)
for "Are you going to the movie?"
Say "Si, voy al cine." (SEE VOH-ee ahl SEE-neh)

Dune Buggies Must Meet State Standards

A motor vehicle by any other name — even "dune buggy" — is still a motor vehicle, and must be equipped to meet the standards set by the California Vehicle Code.

According to California Highway Patrol Captain R. Gautsche of San Diego, this fact is often forgotten or not understood by hobbyists who build special motor vehicles, either from supplied kits or from parts of other vehicles, and then seek to register them.

"Dune buggy builders often find they are unable to register their special new vehicles because they have left off certain pieces of essential equipment required by law," said the Captain. "They would be well advised to find out ahead of time what equipment is needed and what equipment is legally required, then get it on the vehicle while they are building it. Any Highway Patrol office has lists of required equipment and would be happy to assist them."

The Captain said equipment deficiencies commonly found on this type of vehicle include inadequate lighting and signal systems, unapproved glass in windshields, and absence of two windshield wipers and two mirrors.

"The builder also needs to think in terms of an adequate braking system, exhaust system including smog devices, if required, and safe tires and wheels for the buggy," he said.

Henry A. "Andy" Anderson — early Lemon Grove pilot

Fokkers May Come And Go But Love For 'Jenny' Lives On

by Vern Matthews

There's a look about early-day fliers, an expression that eludes description.

Mostly it centers in the eyes, put there by bright sun, by foul weather and by straining to locate a familiar land-mark when all pilots flew by the seat of their pants.

Whatever it's name, H. A. "Andy" Anderson, Lemon Grove resident for 47 years, comes by it honestly.

This slight-built man in the wheel chair started flying in 1912.

It was in Oklahoma, and he was sixteen. The airplane was a Wright, one of the ancient "box-kites" with one engine and two chain-driven propellors.

Andy sat out there in the breeze, in the open front end among the wires, cables and struts.

He bought three rides and soloed the fourth. It was a great day, and from then on he had the fever.

Flying Hobby

Flying may have been a hobby with Andy — he insists that's all it ever was — but it got him around the country, anyway.

The next year found him on North Island because that's where the airplanes were, three of them. They belonged to Glen Curtiss, the air pioneer who had set up a flight training field that Andy calls Curtiss Camp.

Curtiss Camp?

On North Island?

Does he mean the old army base, Rockwell Field?

This draws an impatient glance.

No. NOT Rockfell Field.

Before that.

North Island was privately owned then (by the Coronado Beach Company, a Spreckels firm). Curtiss used part of it for his flying operation, and called it Curtiss Camp.

Oh.

Accident A Day

Andy helped maintain the airworth planes there, and helped fix those that weren't. With three planes in use, he remembers there was at least one accident a day. His pay came in rides and more instruction. It was 1913.

The following year he was in Tampa, Florida, helping maintain a flying boat, the sole airplane of a brand-new airline. The route ran from Tampa to St. Petersburg, Andy recalls, and passenger space was much in demand.

Tickets for early flights were sold at auction. The first went to Tampa's mayor for $300.

Although he was officially on the airline's payroll, Andy's pay here was the same as with Curtiss rides. The year was 1914.

Sopwith Camel

WW I came, and with it the day of the Sopwith Camel, the Spad and the Nieuport, the plane with engine and propellor that turned around a stationary crankshaft, the Gnome. It was also the time of the Curtiss JN, the famous but slow and ungainly "Jenny". Andy doesn't say so, but he must have loved the Jenny. He was to buy several of them.

After the war, in which he served as a Marine, he got back to airplanes quickly. He was a frequent visitor at North Island, now a big military base and a showcase for airplanes. It was also a bargain counter offering Spads, Nieuports, Bristols and Jennies. De Havilands were there, too.

Starting procedure for the DHs had a line of three running men, hands interlocked, racing by the propellor. The last man through grabbed the prop and gave it a mighty turn.

Andy flew them all, but he bought Jennies. For his purposes, he says, the others were too "hot".

Slow Plane

Like his first flight there with a DH-4. His standard takeoff with a Jenny was to get into the air, then put the nose down to gain speed, "cut grass" and then climb, slowly. It had to be slow, for the Jenny's big OX-5 engine yielded but 90 horsepower.

Andy took the DH off, nosed her down and suddenly found a 420 horsepower Liberty 12 engine pulling him for disaster, fast. He escaped by a whisker.

A Jenny wouldn't do that to you!

But they would do other things on occasion. Coming in at what is now Lindbergh Field but what was then rough fill earth, Andy and the Jenny flipped and came to rest upside down. A bystander at the scene opined it was the pair of baby shoes hanking from the cowl that had kept him from harm. Andy, more sentimental than most people know, carried baby shoes alright, but they were the baby shoes of Mrs. Anderson.

He speaks fondly of the old Liberty engine, and notes it was put to a variety of uses for which it wasn't originally intended. They found wide use in boats. He recalls one job in the L.A. area which had him installing two of the big twelves, tandem, in a speedboat.

Rum Runner

The boat turned out to be extremely fast, an essential feature to the businessman who operated it; a man engaged in cheating on the Volstead Act.

Andy moved to Lemon Grove in 1921 and began operation of the area's first garage. It was here, near the corner of Imperial and North avenues, that he assembled the surplus Jennies he bought in crates.

Complete except for wings, the assembled Jennies were then taken to the nearest airfild where wings were addd to mak them flyable, saleable birds. He remembers Mrs. Anderson completely wearing out a sewing machine stitching the fabric coverings for wings, tails and fuselages.

There was no Broadway then. Brookside hadn't even been thought of, and the 18-hole golf course it replaced wasn't there yet either.

But there was a 9-hole course, and it was here that Andy would occasionally land a plane on a vacant fairway. The golfers didn't mind. In fact, an airplane on a fairway was a curiosity, a welcome diversion.

One nearby landing field lay at the west edge of El Cajon where twelve or fifteen airplanes could usually be seen, lined up along the road. This was near what is now the corner of Chase and El Cajon blvds. Takeoffs and landings were made westerly toward Grossmont.

Flew Fokker Fighters

It was at Van Nuys that Andy flew some Fokker D. VII fighters, the kind used by Von Richtofen's Flying Circus. They took off like a bird, he recalls, and climbed like mad. It was also at Van Nuys that a friend talked him into flying a Travellaire to Mexicali. It was to be a joyhop and he was to follow his friend who would fly its twin, and lead the way.

There was strange hardware on the fuselage that looked suspiciously like machine gun mounts. Those? Just camera mounts, the friend said, what else?

Coming into Mexicali on a long, slow approach, Andy saw the lead airplane being taken over by soldiers. His friend, the pilot, was being escorted away, under armed guard.

Andy remembered the current unrest south of the border, thought of the camera mounts that looked more like gun provisions. It was the wrong place for Andy. He landed in El Centro.

Hearing Andy recall old flying days, the impressions grows that, although he enjoys talking flying, he's reluctant to talk about himself. Flying, he repeats, was just his hobby. He was a bush pilot, just a bush pilot. Well, maybe.

Famous Names Recalled

But flying was a small, tight fraternity then, and in spite of all, names come up. Names like Curtiss. Nungesser, the fabled French ace Andy met at North Island long before the team of Nungesser and Coli were lost in a trans-atlantic attempt in the twenties.

Other names he mentioned just in passing included Ryan and Lindbergh, but he knew them both.

Andy is in a local convalescent hospital now, suffering from an obscure muscular ailment. Mrs. Anderson, a petite, alert lady whose appearance and energy belie her years, lives on Buena Vista, not far away.

She came to Lemon Grove with her parents in 1913, and met Andy four years later. He wore a Marine's uniform then, and drove a Stutz. They celebrated their 49th wedding anniversary last month.

An uncommon thing about this man in the wheel chair is the way he draws people. Almost no one passes down the hosptial corridor without pausing to offer a joke or a bit of nonsence. His eyes twinkle occasionally but he doesn't talk much, sometimes just smiles. Just like any other early-day flier.

Police Brutality Is Meeting Topic

I have had more than 12 years on the force. You name it — they said it to us." — a Los Angeles Police Department lieutenant.

"It was the most terrible situation I have ever seen in my entire life . . . isolated cases of police brutality were numerous and unbelievable!" — Larry Lawrence, president of the Hotel del Coronado.

These are two reactions to a situation that is becoming more common, more strained and more important — police confrontation of mass demonstrations. These two views were of the anti-war demonstration outside Century Plaza Hotel in Los Angeles last June.

The central topic, "Police and Protest," and underlying issues will be discussed at a one-day conference February 17 at Vacation Village Hotel. The conference is sponsored by University of California Extension.

Lawrence, Roger Wilkins, director of the Justice Department's Community Relations Service; d Butler, San Diego's city attorney; Fred Okrand, American Civil Liberties Union lawyer from Los Angeles; Dan Andreotti, a veteran San Francisco policeman now with the Justice Department; Dr. Richard Popkin, chairman of the UCSD philosophy department and others will discuss how police are handling mass demonstrations.

Most have had first-hand experience. On a panel beginning at 11:15 a.m., for instance, five people are discussing "The Media and Demonstrations." All, including Lawrence, were present at the peace march and ensuing violence when President Johnson appeared at Century Plaza last June.

The panelists are Karl Fleming, Los Angeles bureau chief for Newsweek; John Dreyfuss, reporter for the Los Angeles Times; Lawrence, who was inside at the official presidential dinner, and Sylvia Shapiro and E. L. Mangelsen, San Diegans who took part in the march.

Lawrence's views on the peace march are contained in a letter he wrote to the ACLU after witnessing the demonstration and police tactics in controling it.

John Wood, coordinator and moderator of the day-long conference, said participants will be asked to complete a questionnaire relative to their views about mass demonstrations, civil disobedience and police. Registration begins at 8:30 a.m. followed by an NBC news film of the demonstration at the Pentagon last October, Wood said.

Registration is through University Extension, Matthews Campus, UCSD. Enrollment fee ($6) includes lunch at the hotel. For more information phone University Extension, 453-2000, ext. 207.

Economy Static SFN Bank Says

Southern California's business activity began the New Year on the same level that it ended the old, it was reported by Edward L. Jones, manager of Security First National Bank's College Grove Branch.

January economic performance has been estimated at 167.9 on the Index of Business Activity for Southern California, compiled by the Economic Research Department of Security Bank.

The economy remained nine percent above its level of a year ago, when the index stood at 154.1. January's estimate, however, was slightly lower than December's preliminary reading of 168.2 and November's all-time high mark of 169.9 Jones said.

Some sectors of the economy advanced during January, while others declined. Particularly strong gains were recorded in bank debits. Construction activity rose moderately. Both real estate sales and department store sales declined, after adjustment for seasonal influences.

Employment in the Southland's nine metropolitan counties was the highest on record in December. Approximately 4,692,000 were employed in civilian jobs — 135,000 or 3 percen more than during December of 1966. Over the same year's span, national employment had increased 2.4 percent.

On a seasonally adjusted basis, December unemployment in the nine metropolitan counties averaged at 4.6 percent of the total civilian labor force, down from 4.8 percent a year earlier.

LET HER RIP: Firefighters Leonard Knight and Tom Damberger open up the nozzles on fire department hose that has to be checked monthly in order to maintain Lemon Grove department standards.
More than 9,550 feet of hose must be checked each month and changed to in-service equipment in order to maintain the National Board of Fire Underwriers rating.
Lemon Grove has a 4.0 rating which is better than most of the surrounding communities.

Time Is Neded For State Smog Control On New Autos Regs.

The State of California has asked for a 90-day extension of the Federal waiver hearings on California vehicle emission standards.

The move made Feb. 8 will allow time for State legislative action and for Board hearings on standards. The State Air Resources Board ran into some disagreement over applying standards to every new 1970 vehicle.

Some people contended at the meeting that a maximum standard was essential to demonstrate California's stricter application.

Others warned that such a rule may be imposing an unworkable demand on the automobile industry and that it was being considered without proper notice or hearings.

No action was taken on a resolution re-affirming the State's position on the 1970 standards called for during the Federal waiver hearings in San Francisco Jan. 15-17.

The Board heard two State legislators, Assemblyman John Foran (D-San Francisco) and James Hayes (R-Long Beach) of the Assembly Transportation and Commerce Committee.

They said that they intend to press for stronger smog legislation. This will include the individual emission testing of every 1970 vehicle sold in California.

Spencer Williams director of the Health and Welfare Administration charged the board with continuing vigorous auto emission controls.

He feels that the State program should be a cooperative effort between the ARB, counties, and regional organizations. He stressed that it is not the intention of the State to create "a super smog agency."

A steady downward trend in emissions, and visual improvement in air quality as a result of auto smog control system installations were foreseen by the Board's Chief Engineer Miles Brubacher.

The next meeting of the Board will be March 14 in Sacramento.

Peace Corps Will Test On Sat. A.M

Lemon Grove and Spring Valley residents interested in putting their skills to use in developing nations around the world are invited to take the Peace Corps Placement Test at 1:30 p.m. on Saturday, Feb. 7, at Room 302, 601 A st., San Diego.

Volunteers need not have a college degree, as a broad range of skills are needed for overseas programs in agriculture, public health, community development, education and cooperative development.

The Placement Test, which tanes about an hour and a half, determines how an applicant can best be utilized overseas. It measures general aptitude and ability to learn a language, not education or present knowledge of a foreign language.

The test requiries no preparation and is non-competitive — an applicant can neither pass nor fail.

Persons interested in serving in the Peace Corps must fill out an application, if they have not already done so, and present it to the tester before taking the test. Applications may be obtained from local post offices or from the Peace Corps, Washington, D.C. 20525.

Services Are Held For D. R. Williams

Funereal services for Delano R. (Bill) Williams, 74, formerly of Sweetwater Lodge, Spring Valley, and recently of 235 Glover ave., Chula Vista, were held Feb. 13 at Conrad Lemon Grove Mortuary.

Entombment was in Greenwood Mausoleum. He died died Feb. 10 in a rest home.

A native of Kansas, Williams had lived in San Diego County 47 years. He was a retired carpenter of the Sweetwater Union High School District.

He was also a charter member of the Lemon Grove Methodist Church. He is survived by his widow, Hazel; two sons, Jack of Chula Vista and Frank of San Diego; two brothers, including Day of San Diego; three sisters, including Mrs. Jessie Hosely of San Diego; and six grandchildren.

Stacked in height, the midwife knits suppled by UNICEF would be 100 times taller than the Empire State Building.

Funds Are Earmarked For S.V. Elementary School District

The La Mesa-Spring Valley School Elementary School District will receive $101,199 in funds from the State Board of Education.

The money is part of a $2.3 million fund set up by the federal government to help operate compensatory education programs for children from low-income families.

The board's action increased the amount thus far distributed under the Elementary and Secondary Education Act (ESEA), Title I to more than $58 million for the 1967-68 school year.

Compensatory education programs under ESEA include remedial reading, cultural enrichment, counseling and guidance, language development, school community coordination, preschool, after-school study centers, health services and inservice training for teachers.

In some of the schools, the ESEA activities are aimed at strengthening educational services for children of migrant agricultural workers.

Three districts received $128,100 in state funds to reduce pupil-teacher ratio in poverty area elementary schools. The funds, authorized by 1966 amendments to the McAteer Act, went to Berkeley Unified, $94,500; Hayward Unified, $10,500; and Sausalito Elementary, $23,100.

In addition, 12 agencies were awarded $159,033 for preschool programs for children whose families are on welfare or are potential welfare recipients. The funds were part of $15 million available under the state Unruh Preschool Act of 1965.

Each day, UNICEF vehicles travel roughly the distance of 35 times around the world.

Socal Security News

The Lemon Grove Review presents this question and answer column about the Social Security Program as a public service to our readers. The questions are those most frequently asked about Social Security. The answers are provided by Sumio Oto, El Cajon Social Security District Manager.

Q. Can I make application by mail for my increase in social security benefits under the new change in the law?

A. If you are now receiving monthly social security benefits, the amount you get will be increased by at least 13%, beginning with the check you receive early in March. The increase in benefits is being made automatically to all beneficiaries, so there is no need for you to mtke any application.

Q. My husband and I are both over 72 years old. He receives $35 a month, and I get $17.50. Will we get any increase in our benefits under the new law?

A. Yes. Your husband's benefit will increase to $40 per month, and yours will increase to $20 a month. This increas will be automatic and will be shown on checks received early this March.

Q. I understand that, beginning this year, I can earn as much as $1680 and still get all of my social security benefits. I receive rental income from a home I own. Is this income included in the $1680 allowed?

A. No. The $1680 figure on earnings applies only to income earned from employment or self-employment. Income from rentals, interest, stocks, etc., does not affect your benefits unless you are in the real estate or stock brokerage business.

If you have further questions regarding recent changes in the Social Security Law, write or contact the Social Security District Office, 1075 E. Main st., El Cajon, California 92021. The office is open from 8:30 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday, and until 7:30 p.m. on Wednesdays. The phone number is 442-0851.

HOP-A-LOT: Susan Ramsey, student at the Golden Ave. School is shown using the Hop-A-Lot during morning recess. The physical fitness program in all schools may use this type device to build ankle and leg muscles.

The technique was developed by Hamilton M. Bowen of Spring Valley. When Susan was asked for her comment she said, "I love it . . . it's great!"

Spring Valley Man Invents New Techique In Physical Fitness

The "Hop-A-Lot" has made its mark! The new technique in physical fitness has marked a step forward in the development of ankle and leg muscles.

The inventor of the Hop-A-Lot is Hamilton M. Bowen, 8626 Eileen st., Spring Valley. Bowen, a Lemon Grove School District employee for more than 7 years, started working on the Hop-A-Lot early in 1962 in his garage.

The ssuare shaped device is made of heavy plastic with taunt elastic lines forming a checkered pattern throughout its area. The springs and elastic used on the frames are for safety precautions.

In the event that a person should trip or fall, the springs are flexible enough so that there will be no injuries made.

Various Methods

A participant hops through all the squares on one foot then returns on the other. After that they use both feet going forward, sideways or backwards.

In free-play, the children usually make their own choice in direction, using it as a challenging game. One eight year old girl said "It is great . . . I love it."

The Hop-A-Lot can be used by anyone of any age. It weighs only 5 pounds and is portable. During bad weather it can be moved inside for use. It can also be used in a gym without damaging the floors.

Another feature is the weight factor. Because it weighs only five pounds it can be put in storage with ease. Or it can be moved to the practice grid iron for football practice.

Kids Fight Over It

Bowen said that the very first time that it was put on the hot top surface in the school recreation area that the kids were fighting over it. That was some five years ago. They are still fighting over it.

The Hop-A-Lot is being tested throughout the county in various schools and recreation areas. The results and comments have been high.

Bowen, who has spent over 30 years in the Spring Valley area said, "The idea came from the fact that kids just like to jump."

First One

The first Hop-A-Lot was used in a physical education class. The teacher was highly impressed with the muscular development of the students. What is even more important is that the kids enjoyed the exercise.

Bowen sent one Hop-A-Lot to a Phoenix, Arizona high school where it was used by football, basketball, baseball and track coaches.

Coaches Comment

All coaches made the same comments . . . that development of ankle and leg muscles from the Hop-A-Lot had made significant results in helping all athletes in their respective sports.

On coach found that it had helped their jumping abilities in basketball. Another saw that his team had better coordination of the lower body. Development of agility mas also marked.

Bowen plans to develop his Hop-A-Lot so that in the near future schools throughout the country will oe able to use the piece of equipment.

How do you own a stack of Savings Bonds when you're older?

Start young.

Start small, if you want to, but start steady. The important thing is to have a regular program of setting something aside every payday.

What's most important: it's never too early to begin.

You say that takes more will power than you can muster up on a regular basis? Then use the easy, automatic way: join the Payroll Savings Plan where you work.

This way your employer saves your money for you—puts it toward the purchase of a U. S. Savings Bond.

Pretty soon you won't even miss the money. In fact, you'll probably forget how fast your savings are growing.

Here's a for-instance: just $4.33 a week adds up to the $18.75 you need to buy a $25 Bond every month. That's $300, maturity value, a year. Not bad for a former spendthrift! What's more, those few dollars you're tucking away to grow will be working all the time to help keep our country strong and free.

So start now, start young, building up the savings that count so much later on. Join the Payroll Savings Plan before next payday.
